glitzy girls

The lazy days of Summer are upon us . .

I can't believe it's summer already... and not a moment too soon! Bouncing back from a harsh New York winter and a rainy New York spring, I am really looking forward to some nice, hot weather!

We spent many months preparing and shooting our Summer Edition in many locations with so many beautiful girls from all over the country just to bring to you our first annual Fashion Edition.

We are so grateful for all the designers who have worked so hard with us and got their designs and product to us in time for each scheduled shoot. Some of them even custom-designed outfits specifically for our shoots; a big thanks to all of you for the added efforts.

May 15th, 2011: It was a cool and windy day, but our models at Coney Island, New York showed us what true professionals they really were. We cannot thank them enough; with all the clothing changes and walks along the boardwalk, they really hung in there and showed not only our staff but their families how professional they really could be. It was a great experience for me to see these girls, many of whom had just met, having fun with one another and [hopefully] creating new friendships.

I would like to take this opportunity officially welcome and thank Ryan Lee for joining our staff; he was a tremendous help at our Coney Island shoot and daily, he is stepping up to the plate, no questions asked.

Here we are, well within our second year and we are making changes along the way to bring a better publication to our readers. There will be staff changes; additions as well as subtractions. I, as well as the rest of my staff, am striving to make this magazine accessible to the entire pageant community. Many have expressed to us in the past few months that they felt they were being left out, so we have made some changes to allow everyone to feel welcomed.

We want everyone in the pageant community to feel a part of this magazine; there are no cliques within the Glitzy Girls organization.

If you wish to see us cover a specific event, please contact us and if we feel there will be enough interest, we will proceed accordingly.

We are already working hard on our Fall and Winter issues and are currently on the hunt for our next Glitzy Girls Fall cover model. Note: our Winter cover model will be selected at the Heavenly Angels Nationals this November in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.
